Official Version of Teuton Reply Is Handed to Secretary Lansing After Decoding and Translating Message

Foe Press Considers Sol's Latest Communication to Be Basis for Peace; Offers Harder War as Alternative

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The official text of Germany's latest note to President Wilson was received by cable today at the Swiss legation. Frederick Oederlin, the Swiss charge, arranged to deliver it to Secretary Lansing as soon as it could be decoded.

The charge's appearance at the State Department was delayed for several hours as the task of decoding and translating proved to be long and tedious. Considerable differences in verbiage may be shown and it is understood that the official text will clear up certain obscure passages in the wireless version received yesterday.

Indications were that no announcement of a decision by the President could be expected before tomorrow. Secretary Lansing was with him until nearly midnight last night discussing the wireless version, but there now must be further conferences, and it is assumed, there will be exchanges with the allied capitals.

Official comment continued to be withheld, awaiting an indication of the President's views. Every one expected him to decide very quickly whether the note creates a new situation.

SEE FEW SIGNS OF IMMEDIATE PEACE
Opinion as to the probable attitude of the President did not differ on the great point that immediate peace is not at hand and that however the German question is solved, there may be no armistice will be agreed to except upon conditions of surrender that will destroy forever the power of the Kaiser's machine. Some observers thought no answer would be made and the German armies left to complete their enforced evacuation of occupied territory as best they might with the allied armies on their heels. Others believed the next step would be, a suggestion that the German military commanders are ready to accept dictated terms and should approach General Foch on the subject of an armistice.

Those who are convinced that the enemy is beaten into submission and efforts at bargaining now are merely a prelude to complete surrender are guided by confidential diplomatic circles purporting to show that there has been a real political revolution in Germany and that the people in power are ready to throw out the Kaiser and to bring about a private despatch from Germany has been published in a Copenhagen newspaper stating that troops on leave are receiving orders not to return to the front and that to this extent demobilization has begun.

Military men here, however, regard it as inconceivable that such orders would be given.

LONDON REPUTES GERMAN LAYING

LONDON, Oct. 22.—With reference to the paragraph in the German note denying that the German navy ever purposely destroyed lifeboats with their passengers, it is pointed out in government circles that many cases could be quoted in reply to this denial.

Two recent cases are the Llandovery Castle, the Canadian hospital ship, sunk in the Atlantic, and the French steamer Lydiana, sunk off the north coast of Spain, July 16. The Lydiana was a German submarine torpedoed and sunk off the Irish coast on the night of June 27 while returning from Halifax, with no wounded aboard. The German submarine made no effort to aid the survivors and even tried to sink at least one of the lifeboats.

After the Lydiana was sunk two whaleboats and a raft were lowered. The German submarine rammed both boats, cutting them in two, after several fruitless attempts the submarine succeeded in sinking the raft and then disappeared without

Reply to Austria Wins Approbation of Ally Papers

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Universal approbation of President Wilson's reply to Austria is reflected in editorial comments in London newspapers. His attitude is generally praised as that of the champion of oppressed peoples.

"It is a charter of liberty for the Jugo-Slavs and a permanent bar to Germany's eastern aspirations," said the Mail.

"The President's reply reaffirms the British attitude that the sword cannot be sheathed until the rights of small nations have been made unassailable," is the opinion of the Times.

The Express says: "It is an affirmation that the Austro-Hungarian empire is out of date as far as geographical expression is concerned."

"The reply is like a hammer blow and informs Austria she is late to accept the fourteen points," says the Telegraph.

HUN EVASION CLEARLY SHOWN IN BOTH NOTES

LONDON, Oct. 22 (British Admiralty wireless)—The German discussion makes it difficult to believe in her sincerity or professions of sincerity. Examination of the original German second note to President Wilson shows customary German subterfuge in pretending to accept what she certainly does not mean to accept.

The second German note said Germany accepted the President's thesis, the German word used being "satze." What the President asked was whether Germany accepted his "terms." The answer was a deliberate indication to avoid acceptance of the terms.

This is proved by the fact that the German note of the first American reply contained not the word "satze," but the word "bedingung," the latter being an accurate translation of the word terms in the sense of condition.

Thus Germany clearly understood the question and gave a crooked answer. Reference to German newspapers of October 19 and 20 shows that nobody in Germany imagined for a moment Germany has accepted terms.

Acceptance of these was taken on all hands to mean the acceptance of the basis for negotiations and the whole press continued its assertion that Germany would not surrender either Alsace-Lorraine or Prussian Poland.

GERMAN CONCESSION MERELY ADMISSIBLE
The portion of the German channel of the speech which implied the same refusal was carefully taken from the version of the speech which Germany sent abroad.

Germany's conservative press comment naturally has taken that view of the position and Liberal papers are equally emphatic.

The Berliner Tageblatt speaks throughout of the "guiding principles," and says the whole German concession consists merely of an admission that the question of Alsace-Lorraine and Poland are now international questions. It protests against the appeal for freedom of peace negotiations and says: "Only a completely defeated Germany could agree to separation of the eastern marshes from Prussia."

Elsewhere the Tageblatt says there can be after all no harm in discussing any "questions" at conference tables.

There is abundant evidence that the Germans rely upon keeping Alsace-Lorraine by a manipulated plebiscite and on keeping Prussian Poland by putting together all parts of Prussia in which Poles live and then arguing that the Polish population does not constitute a majority of the whole area.

SEES GREAT DANGER IN PRUSSIAN POLAND
This appears quite clearly from the leading article in the Frankfurter Zeitung, which states:

"The main peril of the coming peace negotiations is that the German people of this German land will be able to doubt now, when faced by the choice, it would choose between that and France. But in the east, in Poland, probably lie tremendous perils. The Polish appeal permits us to interpret the thirteenth point of Wilson's thesis in the sense that all territories that were formerly Polish, are to be united in a uniform Polish state with its own sea coast."

"This interpretation is false. It would be intolerable for Germany, because thinking only of the

COMMUNICATION CUT ALONG DANUBE RIVER

Serbian Sever Orient Railway, While French Reach Vicinity of Vidin; Nish and Belgrade Will Soon Fall

By FRANK CHARLTON, International News Service Cable Editor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Turkey's departure from the war and from the German alliance is expected to be hastened by the latest developments on the Balkan battlefield.

The French have reached the Danube river, cutting another line of communication between the Central empires and Constantinople. When the Serbians reached Nish they severed the Orient railway, the only direct railroad line of communication between Germany and Constantinople, but the waterway line of communication, via the Danube and the Black sea, remained open. Now that line is closed and the only way that many can communicate with her Oriental ally is through Russia and the Black sea, a long, tortuous and difficult line.

DANUBE REACHED IN VICINITY OF VIDIN
The French war office announced that the Danube has been reached in the vicinity of Vidin. Vidin is in Bulgaria, about forty-seven miles southeast of the Austria-Hungary frontier.

It is on the Rumanian frontier, the Danube separating Bulgaria and Rumania at that point. The Serbians are approaching Krushevo, about seventy miles from Belgrade, and the seat of the national arsenal. It has been just five weeks since the allies launched their drive on the Balkan battlefield and it has been followed by overwhelming and decisive victory.

TURKS STEADILY FORCED BACK
After the Bulgarians threw down their arms the Germans and Austro-Hungarians in Serbia and Albania put up a show of resistance, but have been forced back steadily and now are almost to the Danube line. The allies, so far as known, have not attempted any operations against Constantinople on the European side, but are now in an excellent position to do so. They have free use of the Orient railway in southern Bulgaria and are at liberty to use Adrianople as a base, as it lies helpless before the allied advance.

The allies are in a position to squeeze Turkey from three points: westward from Mesopotamia and Persia; eastward from Palestine, and southward from the Balkans. Arab tribes are in revolt and can aid the allies by attacking northward from the Arabian desert.

Price Combination Alleged on Tobacco

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Charging the employment of price discrimination in the sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products, tending to create a monopoly in the tobacco industry, and alleging the maintenance of interlocking control, and illegal concentration of control under the Tobacco Products Corporation of Virginia, the Federal Trade Commission this afternoon filed complaints against four of the largest tobacco concerns of the country, charging that they were engaged in a conspiracy to fix prices and to discriminate against small dealers.

The concerns and men named are: The Tobacco Products Corporation, Schinasi Brothers, Inc., Prunell, Tobacco Company, Inc., F. W. Tobacco Company, and George L. Storm, Reuben Mells, Albert Falk, Jacob L. Hoffman, Jacob F. Dixon, Gary Miller, L. B. McKitterick and Louis Schinasi.

It is pointed out that the companies and not at all of Germans, it would actually exclude the right of self-determination of the German nation and would cripple hopelessly our people and its future.

The whole trend of the German press shows that the German scheme is to persuade the allies into negotiations by the assurance of accepting their terms and then use the occasion by attempting to create dissension to Germany's advantage. Both designs are doomed to failure.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Serbians and French are rapidly approaching the border of Herzegovina (an Austrian province bordering Montenegro) of the north and Serbia on the northeast, said an official despatch received here today.

The Austro-German commander on the Serb front is attempting to concentrate his forces, but great numbers of Austro-Hungarian and German forces are deserting, thus hindering the movement.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—While the allies continue to drive the Germans back on the west front from the Dutch frontier to the Verdun region, French troops have reached the Rumanian border.

THE FRENCH WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCED THAT THE DANUBE HAS BEEN REACHED IN THE VICINITY OF VIDIN. VIDIN IS IN BULGARIA, ABOUT FORTY-SEVEN MILES SOUTHEAST OF THE AUSTRIA-HUNGARY FRONTIER.

Allied Forces Smash Across Belgian Border for Strategic Movement on Important Post

LONDON, Oct. 22, 3:15 p. m.—A new attack was begun on the Flanders front by the French today. Excellent progress has been made in the direction of Ghent. The assault was delivered by strong forces.

After sharp fighting on the Tournai front the British drove the enemy from the village of Orcq and the adjoining woods and are now within a mile of the German base at Tournai, the war office announced today.

South of Trian, the western part of which is now in possession of the British, the British advanced to the left bank of the Escalonne. Further progress has been made by the British between Valenciennes and Tournai despite increased enemy resistance.

The text of the war office report follows: "As a result of local fighting during the night we advanced our line to the left bank of the Escalonne south of Thiant. We now hold the western part of Thiant."

"Further progress was made by the British between Valenciennes and Tournai. The enemy's resistance on this front is increasing."

"In the Tournai sector, as the result of sharp fighting during the night, we drove the enemy out of the village of Orcq and the woods in the neighborhood of Froyennes. (Froyennes is a mile northwest of Tournai. Orcq is less than a mile due west of Tournai.)"

"We are now less than a mile from the town (Tournai). The allies have made a new advance of nearly a mile between the Escalonne (Scheldt river) and the Lys river on the Flanders front. The British war office earlier today said:

"The retreating Germans abandoned all of their defense guns on the Belgian coast, including long-range cannon that had shelled Dunkirk."

The text of the official report follows: "In Flanders the retreating Germans have abandoned all of their defense guns."

"The French have crossed the Lys and repulsed violent German counter-attacks."

"The British have reached the Escalonne canal near Elchin in spite of lively resistance."

"Between the Escalonne and the Lys the British advanced 1500 yards."

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 21 (Night).—British troops are rapidly enclosing

Tournai, both to the north and south. Deep wedges have been driven into the German lines on both sides of this important city and its fall appears imminent. The enemy is stubbornly defending its approaches with artillery and machine guns.

The Germans heavily shelled Neuville today, which I saw wet and bedraggled, but happy, women, children and old men escaping this afternoon. They were being escorted by Tommy who were carrying chickens, household goods and other valuables.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN BELGIUM, Oct. 22 (By the Associated Press).—The general situation in Belgium this morning seemed to be that on most of the front the allied armies had reached a period of pause, which is inevitable when rapid advances have been made.

German resistance stiffened appreciably during the night, especially along the Sohelst river.

On the front of the British Fourth army, which the Americans are fighting, the night was quiet and the situation is unchanged in the Valenciennes-Le Cateau area.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Curious of insanity by extracting diseased teeth, removing infected tonsils and clearing the gastro-intestinal tract was announced here today by Dr. Henry A. Cotton, medical director of the New Jersey state hospital, in a report to the state department of charities and corrections.

The report gives the results of eleven years of experimentation on a number of deranged patients.

Causes of infected teeth were charged by Dr. Cotton to bad dental work, neglect and promiscuous kissing.

RAPPE'S WOOD QUICKLY CLEARED OF ENEMY

Further Progress Is Made by French in Serre Sector; Activity by Foe Artillery; Railway Near Assis Reached

By FRANK J. TAYLOR, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 22.—The Germans continue to strengthen their forces opposing the Americans in the Argonne-Meuse regions by rushing in units of new divisions.

A captured order issued by General von der Marwitz appeals to the German soldiers to hold this sector at all costs, which he declares is the most vital to German military movement. Divisions report their officers are determined to hold back the American push.

In clearing out the Rappe's wood, which the doughboys accomplished yesterday afternoon in three hours, despite heavy machine gun and artillery fire, they have removed one of the most serious obstacles to their continued progress.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Further progress was made last night by the French on the Serre front the war office announced. The French reached the railway northeast of Assis-Suhrert and also the St. Jacques Farm, north west of Chalandry. The statement adds:

"North of the Oise the night was characterized by great activity on the part of the German artillery. The French artillery replied in tenfold the battle of the night. At last night. It is confirmed that the attacks made yesterday by the Germans were very violent. We have identified elements belonging to sixteen divisions."

Mothers of Eastbay Aid Sick Fighters

The appeal that has been made to members of the Oakland Defenders' recreation club and to those who have spacious homes with plenty of room to house a convalescent soldier or sailor in, during the period of recovery until he is able to report for duty in army or navy station, is being answered by Eastbay mothers, who have served as workers in the volunteer organization for months, since it opening.

The assistance of the workers in helping to relieve the congested condition in the hospitals is asked, that the men who have been given furlough and who have no place to go may be cared for until their recovery.

Berkeley National Defenders' club has already turned over its quarters into a convalescent hospital for the men at the neurological school. Daily the women, who have given the most of their time and energy to the cause, are making their homes across the bay. Mrs. Lawrence will return to Cleveland upon her husband's departure for France.

Mrs. Sidney Lawrence accompanied by her infant son, Walter Edward Lawrence, has come to Camp Taylor, Kentucky, to join her husband who has entered the officer's training school there. For some time the lawrences have been making their home across the bay. Mrs. Lawrence will return to Cleveland upon her husband's departure for France.

Captain Charles Clifford Lewis, who married Miss Madeline Ross of Piedmont several months ago, and who is stationed in Manila, is expected to be sent to Siberia for service. Mr. and Mrs. George Ross are now in the islands and are awaiting definite orders as Mrs. Lewis will then return to California with her parents.

The Phillips Taylors have motored to Santa Cruz for a fortnight's stay, intending to visit friends while there, as they are on their second trip this season, as they motored there some weeks ago.

One of the debutantes of Southern California who has joined the ranks of the younger matrons and is to make her home in the city, is Elizabeth Elizabeth Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Woodward of Elden Avenue, who became bride of Charles G. Johnson of San Francisco. The wedding took place on October 14 at the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, Los Angeles. Rev. Father John J. Clifford officiating.

The bride was married in a smart traveling suit of dark blue material, and was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Woodward, who had served as best man. The wedding breakfast was at the Hotel Alexander. Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Marquette and of the College of the Immaculate Heart in Hollywood.

The William Mollers accompanied by Mrs. Frank Moller and Miss Gertrude Moller, are now in Florida, where they are from there, in a few weeks, will go on to Florida where Frank Moller is stationed. Young Moller is a trick for the army. His brother, Lieutenant Fred Moller, is now in France.

Mrs. Edward Gordon Garden of Claremont Court has cancelled the invitation to an informal dance, extended to a group of intimate friends, on the evening of Saturday, because of the epidemic. It was the best to postpone the afternoon until some future date when the danger from influenza has passed.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH, IF CONSTIPATED

Look at Tongue; Then Give Fruit Laxative for Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Children and They Love It.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time to grow up if their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few days the constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful, chubby, happy child.

"Inside cleansing" is oftentimes unnecessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children and all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the wrapper. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

Today's Aid to Beauty

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthox (which you can get at any druggist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pillant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After Canthox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

Cider Press Told About by Uncle Wiggly

By HOWARD R. GARIS.

One day when Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was going through the woods, on his way to the store for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, he met Grandfather Goosey Gander, the old gentleman duck.

"Where are you going?" asked Uncle Wiggly, looking in his tall silk hat to make sure he hadn't lost the 10-cent piece which he was going to get a loaf of bread.

"I'm going somewhere with this bag of apples over my shoulder," said Grandpa Goosey.

"And where is that?" Uncle Wiggly wanted to know.

"Take a smell, and see if you can tell," spoke the old gentleman goose.

So Uncle Wiggly, with his pink twinking nose, took a sniff and a smell of the bag of apples. "Grandpa Goosey, you must be going to make an apple pie," he said.

"Partly right, and partly wrong," laughed Grandpa Goosey with a quaking laugh. "I have apples in the bag, but I am taking them to the cider press to have them pressed into cider so I can drink it this winter. If you'll come with me, I'll give you some of the apple juice."

"Fine and dandy!" cried Uncle Wiggly.

So he started to walk along with Grandpa Goosey through the woods toward where Grandpa Goosey's cider press was located. Grandpa Goosey had set up a cider press to squeeze the juice out of apples. The cider press was a big wooden wheel with a handle, and Grandpa Goosey was such a good hugger, you know.

Pretty soon, as Uncle Wiggly and Grandpa Goosey went along together, they met Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman.

"Where are you going?" asked Uncle Butter.

"To the cider press," answered Uncle Wiggly. "I have apples in the bag, and I am taking them to the cider press to have them pressed into cider so I can drink it this winter. If you'll come with me, I'll give you some of the apple juice."

"Fine and dandy!" cried Uncle Butter.

So they all went along together, Uncle Wiggly, Grandpa Goosey, and Uncle Butter, toward the cider press.

"Where are you going?" asked Uncle Butter.

"To the cider press," answered Uncle Wiggly. "I have apples in the bag, and I am taking them to the cider press to have them pressed into cider so I can drink it this winter. If you'll come with me, I'll give you some of the apple juice."

"Fine and dandy!" cried Uncle Butter.

So they all went along together, Uncle Wiggly, Grandpa Goosey, and Uncle Butter, toward the cider press.

Former Yell Leader Is Estate Executor

Phillip Thayer, former yell leader at the University of California, was today appointed administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Sarah H. Thayer, by Judge Dudley Kinsey. Mrs. Thayer died in 1913, and the estate was never probated. Her husband is since deceased and in order to administer his estate it is necessary to dispose of the estate of his wife. The bond required was $27,000, the estate being mostly personal property of a value of approximately $14,000.

Wrigley's Discontinues Use of Tin Foil

To help meet the needs of the government Wrigley's will discontinue the use of tin foil as a wrapping for "Juicy Fruit" chewing gum, in order to release this valuable material to Uncle Sam.

Hundreds of thousands of pounds of tin foil are available to the Government. It is said, "Juicy Fruit" will hereafter appear in the hermetically sealed, pink wrapper same as "Spearmint." "Doublemint" will also be wrapped in waxed pink paper, instead of green.

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture) Hairs can be easily banished from the skin by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package.—Advertisement.

The Struggle

By ZOE BECKLEY. (Continued from yesterday.) CHAPTER XLIV. AT THE CROSSROADS.

Had Cleary, known to Edith only by report, proposed partnership in business to her a few months before, she would not have been so much moment to decline. She, the mother of two children, to spend part of every morning at an inn about which Arcadia had made up its mind as to its respectability? It was not so much a former bartender, saloonkeeper and owner of a hotel popular in the theatrical sections of New York? The Edith six months before would have been shocked at the mere proposal.

But Edith was one of those fortunate beings who grew with time. Her experience with the Pennis had taught her what she had felt instinctively, that a human being is entitled to be judged less by the past than by the present and future. Not that she had heard anything definitely reprehensible about Cleary's past, but the fact that his having been a bartender and saloonkeeper and keeper of a theatrical hotel constituted in her eyes a "past."

Cleary's present and future Edith only knew that he had bought the Arcadia Inn as a pleasant means of retirement from business. What he would make of the hotel neither Arcadia nor Cleary himself could say. He was wavering evenly between catering to a lively automobile clientele and to family parties. In short, Edith was as much attracted by the offer he outlined as she was held back by her uncertainty of the character the inn would take on.

Cleary noted her hesitation.

"I know just what's bothering you, Mrs. Ferrol," he said cheerfully. "It's the proposition itself. It's me. You can't make up your mind whether I'm well, proper enough for a lady to do business with. Now, for the lady to hold up a pudgy hand to her confused remembrance. 'Don't say it ain't that. I'm not a fool. If it was me who was in your place and a man like me came along with a proposition like I'd feel shy, too. But, look here, Mrs. Ferrol, I'll lay all my cards face up and you can decide if I am keeping any up or my sleeve. I've tested your jam and cakes and pickles and makes me work all by myself. I can make twice as much by making my ches do the same for me. Well, Mrs. Ferrol, they made some and it was all to the good. But it wasn't—well, it wasn't like yours."

"Then I tried to sell the stuff. But yours had that different taste, and my jams and things was left cold on my hands. Now, if you will come every day to the inn for an hour or two every day and show my ches these things in the way you know how, why I guarantee you as much money as you make now by working your own ches. I'll guarantee, I'm not expecting you to work yourself—only supervise. And if in a week or so you don't like it, we'll quit. That's fair, ain't it?"

"That's fair," said Edith, listening honestly in his voice that clinched his argument.

"It is fair, Mrs. Cleary!" Edith said determinedly, offering her hand. "I'll try."

"Good!" he said heartily. "And any time you or your husband or kiddies wants to look in at the inn, the latch-string is hanging out for you."

Edith, who had been excited, wondered all day whether she had been wise in accepting Cleary's offer. She went down to the station to meet John so that she could talk to him about it on the way home.

Half Arcadia was at the station to meet the other half coming in on the train. Just as both halves met in greeting there was a raucous shriek from a huge automobile which had been stuck in the mud and was being towed by a horse. The car was three couples obviously paired together at the stage door of a gayety theater. Cleary, young Edith and Susan were all in one. Cleary was high with wine, with every promise of more to come.

"Hey, mister!" the young man at the wheel called out to Cleary. "Which way is Bill Cleary's place? What's the name, Lil?—oh, yes, Arcadia Inn?"

(To be continued tomorrow.)

Red Cross Notes

S. O. S. Workers wanted at headquarters immediately to make face masks and pneumonia jackets. Importance of this work, and the rapidity with which it must be accomplished makes it imperative that everyone willing to work to help out at this crisis respond at once at Red Cross Headquarters, 1560 Broadway.

HARRY EAST MILLER, Chairman.

Chairmen of all Berkeley Red Cross auxiliaries, making hospital garments are expected to report at St. John's Church, College Avenue and Derby Street, in the afternoon, other Tuesday, October 22, or Wednesday, October 23, to receive instruction in making the new hospital garments for the November 15 all-Berkeley Red Cross drive.

This instruction was to have been given at local Red Cross headquarters all this week, but has had to be changed on account of emergency influenza work.

The home service section of the Berkeley Red Cross is organized to give helpful service to the soldiers, sailors and any others in the war zone of the country and their families.

Mrs. F. L. Lipman, chairman of the section, makes the following statement to all men in the service: "We can help you in questions of allowances, allowances, compensation, insurance, in legal difficulties, family problems, sickness, in questions concerning the children, employment and in communicating with your families. No trouble is too great and no trouble is too small. Call at the office, 2181 Shattuck Avenue, room 1, or telephone Berkeley 839."

Al Vander Naillen Endorses H. D. Miller

Al Vander Naillen, who was a candidate for county surveyor at the primary, has endorsed Harlan D. Miller. The following statement has been issued by Vander Naillen: "To my many friends in Alameda County: I wish to take this opportunity through the columns of THE TRIBUNE to thank my many friends who so kindly endorsed me at the primary election for the office of county surveyor and to assure them that although I did not feel qualified that I am deeply grateful for the 16,000 votes I received."

"Mr. Harlan D. Miller, who has been a close personal friend of mine for many years, was nominated by a very large plurality, and it is indeed a pleasure for me to now endorse his candidacy and to recommend him to the voters of Alameda County for the office to which I aspired."

"I know Harlan D. Miller to be an engineer of extensive experience. As the designer of the proposed San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, which was approved by the United States Engineers, he showed ability of a high order."

"Harlan D. Miller has promised me that in the event of his election he will adopt my slogan of efficiency and economy and to devote his entire time to the office and duties of county surveyor."

Eighteen Acres to Be Strawberry Beds

Eighteen acres of land at East Forty-seventh street and Sixty-sixth Avenue, in the property of Mrs. W. B. Clark, Sixty-sixth Avenue, is to be planted in strawberries early next spring, according to the latest word from the city. Several years, has been devoted to grain, was entirely given over to tomatoes this season. Harvesting of the crop is not yet completed. The land, which is a commercial scale within the city limits will be something heretofore not attempted.

Fish Prices

The following are the maximum retail prices for these varieties of fish on this date in San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. Dealers are free to sell at lower prices, but should not charge more. Purchasers who are overcharged are invited to make complaint in writing to the State Market Director, who will send out one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Red Cross Is "Main Object" of Club Women

By GEORGIA C. BORDWELL.

"Will you please get me another bucket of water?" asked a woman of an officer who had knocked over her scrubbing water in a London hospital.

"Indeed, I am an officer," he replied, laughing.

"I humbly beg your pardon," answered the scrub woman. "I am only a duchess."

This little story which emanates from the Los Angeles Red Cross, emphasized the difficulties with which the English women have taken up the burden of war.

America today the women are called upon in a great crisis—they are called upon to offer their services for the care of the nation's victims.

Oakland has the distinction of being the first city to send in to the Red Cross a national body, a nursing survey committee, under the direction of Mrs. Elroy Vagstad, a nursing survey committee in its effort to unearth the entire nursing power of Oakland.

Mrs. Vagstad called upon the women's committee, Council of Defense, and it responded through its women's story. The organization, which is to make a house to house campaign of education, carrying to each home the printed directions of the Board of Health, relating to the prevention and cure of influenza and the Red Cross direction for the making of non-communicable masks, will also secure the names of such women willing to volunteer their services to help care for the sick.

Red Cross headquarters is being besieged by persons asking for the masks. Mrs. Vagstad is leaving arcadia to attend to themselves. The Red Cross urges its workers to give all possible time to the work.

SCHOOLWOMEN ARE PLANNING BACQUEL

Despite the fact that the infinitesimal influenza bacillus is playing ducks and drakes with all the arrangements that have been so laboriously worked over by the schoolwomen, the Red Cross has a few weeks, arrangements which included luncheons, lectures and receptions—work that is not to be deterred for long from making more plans, and the Oakland Schoolwomen's club is going right along with the arrangements for its annual banquet, which will be held at Hotel Oakland November 6, just as if the influenza had entirely put to rout.

The two educational associations of Oakland, the Schoolwomen's club and the Teachers' Association, will collaborate in this effort. The object of their annual social affair, this will be a general gathering of the school and rational folk, which will afford also an opportunity to formally greet the Board of Education and the Board of Supervisors.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Professor Charles Mills Gayley, who will take as his subject "The Causes of the War." He will be followed by four speakers, which will include Mrs. Elroy Vagstad, president of Oakland Federation of Mothers' clubs; Miss Olive Gordon, president of Oakland Schoolwomen's club; Dr. Hunter, superintendent of health; and Dr. S. K. R. Fisher, president of Oakland Teachers' Association.

A special feature of the program, about which much interest and curiosity is being expressed, is the report of the direction of Marie Allen.

MILLS COLLEGE WILL CONTINUE AS USUAL

Mills college, which is a State chartered institution, and has been closed under the order to close, will continue its activities as usual. Tomorrow Dr. Reinhardt will give a lecture on "The Books of the Bible," which will be held at the Armageddon by Will Irwin and "Fighting Fleets" by R. D. Faine. If the weather permits, the ship will be given in the open air and visitors will be welcome.

November 12 is the new date which has been chosen by Oakland Federation of Mothers' clubs for the annual luncheon which was to have taken place tomorrow. The program, according to Mrs. Fred L. Hall, who has worked conscientiously to secure the splendid one, will remain as nearly the same as a lapse of two years will allow. The luncheon will take place at Hotel Alhambra.

Abalones May Be Shipped for Food

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The United States food administration has suspended the provisions of the state law so that pink, green and red abalones may be taken in District No. 19 and shipped to other parts of the country. The law, which was passed in 1916, prohibited the shipment of abalone meat from the state of California.

This action was taken at the request of various fishermen and others interested and the order becomes effective immediately.

District No. 19 includes all the waters on the coast between the northern boundary of Santa Barbara county and the Mexican border, except only the waters of Catalina Island.

Rail Commission

Calls Off Hearings

The State Railroad Commission announced this morning the discontinuance of all public hearings on matters now pending before it following a request from the state board of health due to the influenza epidemic. The only modification made is for those hearings made absolutely necessary to preserve the public health.

"In These War Times
I Appreciate Cherry's More Than Ever."

"Used to be I found their liberal credit system of selling clothes mighty welcome. But now, with so many outside calls for money, I couldn't get along without Cherry's. Guess there's a lot more folks feel the same way. Ed, for Cherry's now has nine big stores all up and down the Coast. One reason he's so popular is because he's so open and above board. No haggling or hawking or red tape. You pick out what you want, pay a small deposit, and agree to pay so much every week after that. Cherry trusts you and lets you wear the clothes while you pay. Of course, the whole transaction's confidential. And, best of all, there's no fancy profits tacked on for all the extra courtesy of credit. Cherry's shop for women is at 513 Thirteenth. AUDITORIUM
HOUSES NEW FLU PATIENTS

The Municipal Auditorium has been converted overnight into a hospital to care for emergency cases in fighting the Spanish influenza epidemic. Sixty-seven beds for patients have been moved in and supplies in the way of sheets and beds were provided this morning by the Red Cross. Stoves were being erected and a room for nurses was being set up.

The conversion of the Auditorium into a hospital is declared by physicians who are volunteering their services to help fight the epidemic to have been accomplished with remarkable expedition. The hospital wards are the rooms along the south side of the building. These were used partly as offices and partly for storage purposes, and were filled high with chairs and furniture, largely covered with dust.

The city prison chain gang was put to work last night and in a few hours had the rooms cleared. Women volunteers from the city jail, imprisoned as vagrants, set to work with scrub brush and mop and within a short time the rooms were clean and sanitary.

The number of deaths and the condition as to violence of the influenza have been much greater among the poorer classes in the community. In these cases there has been greater difficulty in getting immediate medical attention and nurses, and it will be largely from these districts that the patients for the Auditorium emergency hospital will be drawn.

MORE INFIRMARY BEDS.
At the Alameda county infirmary provision has been made for fifty additional beds, so that the immediate use of the Auditorium emergency hospital can be deferred until all the equipment has been installed and the working force is ready to take charge.

A renewed appeal was made today by the health authorities that gauze masks be worn in the streets, stores and all public places, and that they shall be worn in all homes where any illness, no matter how slight, has occurred, especially in homes where members of the family have colds or a gripe.

GAUZE MASK ORDERS.
Don Bingham, sanitary engineer of the United States Shipping Board, was in consultation with the Oakland health authorities today. He stated that he would urge that gauze masks should be worn in the streets by all workers and members of the office force.

Commissioner Morse of the department of public health and safety announced that he would issue a request to members of the police department on patrol duty to wear the gauze masks.

"If we can get cooperation from the health and city employees in wearing masks it will be much better than passing drastic rules with a penalty attached," said Commissioner Morse.

DOWN SWING STILL DUE.
No diminution of the Spanish influenza spread was recorded by the health department today. According to Dr. Crosby, the disease seems to have reached its height here, but is continuing about on the plane. The down swing of the curve shows.

"FLU" MASKS
CAN EASILY BE MADE AT HOME

The Oakland Chapter of the Red Cross has issued the following instructions for the home construction of influenza masks:

- 1—Take a piece of gauze a yard square.
- 2—Cut this into strips 9 inches wide.
- 3—Fold each strip into halves, then into thirds, making six thicknesses of gauze.
- 4—Turn in two edges and stitch all four sides to hold firm. Mask now measures seven inches by six.
- 5—Put three pleats in seven-inch ends, lower pleat deeper than other two to allow room for chin.
- 6—Attach a tape 11 inches long to each of the two lower corners. Attach a tape 13 inches long to each of the two upper corners.
- 7—Distinguish outside by a black thread.

The number of cases has not yet been reached and every effort should be made to have the precautionary measures carried out to the letter.

The total number of cases reported up to shortly before noon today was 1,223, of which 1,113 were reported this morning. Of the total reported, 347 have been released, making a total actually on hand of 1,476.

There have been forty-three deaths from influenza and ten from pneumonia in which influenza was not specifically reported as a contributing cause.

HOLD SPECIAL MEETING.
The volunteer citizens' committee, organized by the Merchants' Exchange to raise funds and give service in fighting the epidemic, held a special meeting of the Merchants' Exchange this afternoon. Representatives of the health department of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda attended.

Deaths from Spanish influenza reported since yesterday are as follows:

Hazel Peterson, 449 Fifty-first street; Florence Ferro, 228 Henry street; Gosti Parata, 585 Fortieth street; Benjamin Corneli, 323 Fifty-first street; Louis Pichette, 673 Twenty-third street; Joseph Routhan, 338 Fifty-eighth street; Irma Boyer, 1053 Eighteenth street; Mathilde Hopken, 2236 Tenth avenue; August Holk, 2005 Webster street; Anne Fillmore, 155 Santa Rosa avenue; Harry Conney, Henry Conney, 2654 Harrison street; William Hennessey, 196 Tenth street; Margaret Peacock, 5519 McCall street; James Westday, 1133 East Thirty-third street; Abbie O'Leary, 2125 Curtis street; Fred Miramontes, 1109 Twelfth avenue; Ida Place Auley, Oakland; Robert Connelly, 1548 Birch street; Gaudy Clement, 1040 Perata street; Alvira Mendes, 1606 Fifth street.

The health authorities are also urging people to "keep moving" in the streets.

Volunteer workers are badly needed. There are many pitiful cases reported almost hourly to the Board of Health where whole families have been stricken with influenza and where there is no one to attend upon the sick. The city nurses, school nurses, Red Cross volunteers are all working under the direction of the city health department and the list of volunteers is being made up there.

143 ADDED TO
GRIPPE LIST
IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—Berkeley's influenza patients mounted today past the thousand mark, with 143 new cases reported yesterday to the health authorities.

As a means of more effectively fighting the influenza epidemic in Berkeley, an emergency ordinance providing for the employment of additional nurses, clerical help and bacteriologists by the city was passed this morning by the City Council.

Power was given Dr. J. J. Benton, city health officer, to fill the places of employees of the health department in the event of influenza and to employ additional nursing help and other assistance where needed. The appointments of the health officer will be ratified by the Council at the next meeting.

Mrs. Ida Cuneo, 2219 Roosevelt avenue, and George H. Drew, university student, today brought Berkeley's deaths up to seventeen from influenza.

While an increase was shown in the number of cases in the city proper, according to the report of health officer Dr. J. J. Benton, university authorities announced a decrease on the campus. Less than half the number of cases were admitted this morning to the various campus hospitals as compared to the total of Monday's new patients.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 22.—An appeal has been issued by Dr. Taylor, president of the Alameda Chapter of the Red Cross and City Health Officer Dr. Arthur Hieronymus, to the public.

Since Saturday night 200 additional cases have been recorded.

Hardship Wrought by Epidemic Among Poor

Twelve cases of sickness, mostly presumed to be from influenza, were reported to County Social Welfare Officer G. Harrison during the forenoon today. Each of them applied to be sent to the county hospital. Mrs. Harrison said that it was impossible to secure ambulances to transport them and that there was no room at the hospital to provide for them.

The tubercular patients at the hospital were removed to the Alameda Sanatorium at Livermore in order to make room for some of the cases applying to the county.

Mrs. Harrison says the scourge is working fearful hardship on poor people who have been experiencing the greatest difficulty in making their incomes meet their living expenses and who are utterly unable to pay the expenses of sickness.

Judge Waste to Send
Slides to France

Judge William H. Waste has completed the collection of 150 views of Berkeley and the University, including the military activities there, from which slides are being made to be forwarded to France for the use of the Y. M. C. A. The slides are grouped in sets of three, and when they reach France they will be shown at the Y. M. C. A. canteens, where the boys from California are billeted.

Each set begins with a seal of the University and ends with a postcard which the message is conveyed that the University is proud of the boys and asking to hear from them with their military record.

Five Report Loss of Articles to Thieves

Henry Mohr, 2340 San Pablo avenue, reports to the police that his premises were entered and two $100 Liberty bonds stolen.

Fred W. Loch and C. B. Second, 2225 Market street, were last night robbed of $50 in coin and a lot of valuable clothing.

A. E. Hathaway, employed at the Southern Pacific roundhouse in West Oakland, reports that $90 in currency and a gold watch were stolen from his person.

Mr. Carrie Hansen, 18 Jefferson street, reports the loss of a handbag containing clothing and toilet articles valued at $10.

Blames Liquor for Anti-Bond Action

Fred Stein, arrested on complaint of E. G. Platt, a Liberty Bond district captain, and who pleaded guilty in Judge Mortimer Smith's court to the charge of interfering with the sale of Liberty bonds, was turned over to the Federal authorities, who will dispose of his case. Stein is an American citizen, whose parents, according to his testimony, were born in Germany and he said the court that his remarks about Liberty bonds were made while under the influence of liquor and he apologized to the court for the indiscretion.

Loses One License,
But Keeps Other

The council today revoked the second-hand dealer's license of Jacob Schiffman, 306 Broadway, for failing to purchase the purchase of articles later found to have been stolen. Schiffman has held two licenses, however, and the council will permit him to retain one, as he has four small children, and the conduct of this shop and a cleaning and dyeing works is his only means of livelihood. The permission will be conditional upon his keeping the proper records of articles purchased.

Want Pillows for University Students

The War Service League is sending out a call for pillows which will be forwarded to the S. A. T. C. at the University of California. Colonel William Laester, U. S. A., has furnished the information to the league that student equipment does not include pillows. An effort will be made to collect 600 for the use of the men in the hospital. Donations may be sent to room 312, Central Bank building.

Easy to Make This
Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its prompt results. Inexpensive, and saves about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all preparations and remedies for coughs. The reason is that it contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can easily need for three or four times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary colds.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the famous "world over" for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Health So Bad Before Taking
Tanlac Don't See Now
How She Lived.

"A little less than two months ago I began taking Tanlac and since that time I have actually gained twenty-five pounds," was the remarkable statement made by Mrs. J. W. Williams, of 650 Oregon street, Seattle, Wash., recently.

"My health has been very poor for many years," she continued, "but my condition has been so bad during the last two or three years that I didn't see how I lived. I suffered most all the time with fearful headaches and awful pain. Every day I was just a mass of misery. I couldn't sleep, and when I did sleep I was racked with pain all over. I lost my appetite, and my nerves became so shattered that I hardly knew what sleep was. When my husband lost his sight, my duties, of course, became doubly hard, and my health being bad already, I kept going down under the strain. I did everything I could to keep out of bed, but finally got to where I was just up and down—up and down—and I even had to give up my housework because I was so weak. Every day was another day of suffering and misery for me.

I went down from one hundred and forty pounds to less than a hundred, and was just a frame with scarcely strength to move around. I finally made up my mind from what I read about Tanlac to try it and I have certainly found it wonderful. I now weigh one hundred and twenty-five pounds and I am in good condition. I have gotten rid of all my pain and now I sleep like a child every night. I have gained so much in strength that I can do all my housework without any trouble and I have been benefited so much that I am glad to recommend Tanlac to everybody."

Tanlac is sold in Oakland and San Francisco by The Oak Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

Do You Think There is No Competition?

If anyone thinks there is no competition amongst the big packers he ought to go through a day's work with Swift & Company.

Let him begin at the pens when the live stock comes in; let him try to buy a nice bunch of fat steers quietly and at his own price, without somebody's bidding against him.

Let him realize the scrupulous care taken at the plant that not one thing is lost or wasted in order that costs may be held to a minimum.

Let him go up into the office where market reports are coming in,—and reports of what other concerns are doing.

Let him watch the director of the Swift Refrigerator fleet, maneuvering it over the face of the country like a fleet of battle-ships at sea.

Let him take a trip with a Swift & Company salesman and try to sell a few orders of meat.

Let him stay at a branch house for an hour or two and see the retail meat dealers drive their bargains to the last penny as they shop around among the packers' branch houses, the wholesale dealers, and the local packing plants.

And then, when the day is over, let him have half an hour in the accounting department, where he can see for himself on what small profits the business is done. (Less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales.)

If he still thinks there is no competition in the meat business it will be because he wants to think so.

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks all classes, regardless of age, sex or conditions. A majority of the ill-afflicted people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble. The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers, of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim. GO OVER TOP WITH SUFFRAGE BANNER

"California women have gone over the top and taken the suffrage banner with them. We have once more answered the senators who voted against suffrage in the United States Senate last month."

Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, state chairman of the national women's Liberty loan committee, sent this message to local women today in announcing from San Francisco headquarters that the women of California have proved the metal of woman citizenship to the nation by selling $100,000 worth of fourth Liberty loan bonds, the goal set at the beginning of the drive.

Since suffrage lost in the Senate California women raised their goal of $15,000,000 in the third drive to $100,000,000 in the fourth, and, according to estimate today, Mrs. Brainerd says they have won.

BOHEMIAN CLUB SPECIAL DUES GO UP ANOTHER $50

P. W. MOREHOUSE DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services were held today for P. W. Morehouse, secretary of the Realty Syndicate, who died after a brief illness. Morehouse, who was one of the most prominent realty operators in Oakland and one of the prominent men in the old P. M. Smith organization, had been with the local company for many years. He is survived by a widow, Mabel C. Morehouse, and two children, Claudia and Virginia Morehouse. He was a native of California, aged 40 years. He was the son of Dr. Noy P. Morehouse, Laura J. Morehouse, Mrs. J. A. Jansen and Mrs. Ralph C. Waddell.

Called to war or war work that the dues of the last line won't pay rent and incidentals.

The result was an assessment of $50 for every member this week to pay pressing debts of the club. Some of the members, just through with Liberty bond calls and other expenses, say they will resign rather than pay it, hence the few writers and artists will probably fade from the domain of the painted oval and leave the millionaires in sole control.

A large number of Oakland men are members of the famous club.

PAYNE STRICKEN; DEALINGS BARED

Intimate details of transactions in which the Bank of Richmond, one of the banks receiving deposits of impounded oil case money handled by Howard M. Payne, federal oil company receiver, figured, formed the bulk of today's hearing in the court of Federal Judge Maurice T. Dooling, into the net of circumstances surrounding the depositing of oil monies, and the loans, alleged to have been made to associates of Payne's and to have been influenced by these deposits.

Receiver Payne, whose control of present impounded money pending the outcome of the inquiry, has been suspended, was not present at the hearing, being confined to his home with an attack of influenza. His attorneys looked after his interests. Throughout today's hearing it was made plain that the inquiry is not a criminal proceeding, but merely an investigation into the conduct of the federal office. There is no charge of illegality in the dealings.

TELLS ABOUT LOAN.

O. D. Jacob of the First Bank of Savings of Oakland, testified that on December 15, 1918, he had been called for a loan of $100,000 on the Melrose Heights project and that the loan was made in January of 1916. Coincident with this the government showed a deposit of $205,000 in the bank named on January 15 from the impounded oil funds under Payne's charge.

W. H. Ohear, a broker of San Francisco, who is stepfather and former employer of P. B. Cross, who was closely associated with Payne, was called to the stand today by United States Attorney John W. Preston and asked to identify correspondence to C. L. Donohue and the Sacramento Valley Realty Company of Willows. His testimony named a number of banks which received deposits of impounded money from the receiver and which were connected with loans to projects Payne or his associates had been in. One of these letters, referring to surveys of 30,000 acres of rice land near Willows, says:

"I am coming up with a close friend of the receiver, W. C. Carpenter, tomorrow. Be careful, all of you, that you do not reveal what you know about where the deposits are coming from. They are very busy having the source become public in any way."

LOANS MADE TO CROSS

Assistant Cashier Edward C. Alwell of the Bank of Italy testified that loans aggregating $4,550 had been made during December, 1915, and January, 1916, to Cross following deposits made by Payne which totaled $22,829.

The contention of Preston is that, using his ability to deposit the impounded money where he would, Payne had influence in inducing the banks desiring deposits to make loans to his associates. The entire question so far in the inquiry is as to whether this is the proper policy for a government receiver to adopt.

SHIPYARD MEN WORKING BACK OF 'FLU' MASKS

The men on the government's second line of defense today donned gas masks, or what passes for gas masks in these perilous days of the Spanish influenza, which is to say that the employees in Eastbay shipyards went on the job this morning well masked against an attack by the "flu."

"This here (flu stuff) wouldn't be half so popular if it was called German instead of Spanish," grumbled a husky riveter at the Moore plant as he shrouded his face in medicated gauze. "Gee," he continued, "I feel just like a first-class casualty, all bound up this way."

The effect has gone forth from United States Medical headquarters that all government employees wear masks during the prevalence of the present epidemic, and for the most part has been complied with. Nearly all of the men at the various shipyards are wearing the protectors, and all of the employees at the local branch of the United States Employment Bureau have their faces thus camouflaged.

Berkeley Mariner Gets Divorce Decree

Alex Danielson, Berkeley mariner, was given a decree of divorce from Beata Danielson today by Judge W. M. Conley. The suit followed shooting of Frank Toski, liquor dealer, by Danielson, recently, when the latter found Toski and Mrs. Danielson together at midnight on the street. Danielson was acquitted of the charge of attempted murder, and Mrs. Danielson sued for divorce. The marriage was the result of a cross-complaint, in which he named Toski. Mrs. Danielson charged in her complaint that her husband burned up her silk dress, and he replied that she burned up his love letters.

Lewis-Baender Go Quickly Interrupted

A one-round bout, in which George Lewis and Charles Baender, charged with highway robbery by E. T. Lemoine, took part, was staged in Judge George Samuel's court. When Baender was taken from the prisoners' cage to testify Lewis landed a right swing on his jaw, knocking him to the floor. Inspector Joe Robinson, who had a charge, then took a hand and with one straight punch, which landed at the right spot, felled Lewis. The row was short-lived and the men returned to their places and the trial proceeded. Frank Alderson and Lewis were held to the superior court on $10,000 bond.

Judge and Lawyers Wear Flu Masks

An occasional "flu fence" appeared in the courthouse today. Judge Everett J. Brown wore a mask of ample dimensions when he came out from his chambers to hear an argument in connection with some of the cases. Coultter, Spencer, Riley, "Whitie" Adams, document clerk; Miss Frances H. Wilson, deputy district attorney, and an occasional lawyer appearing in the courts wore masks.

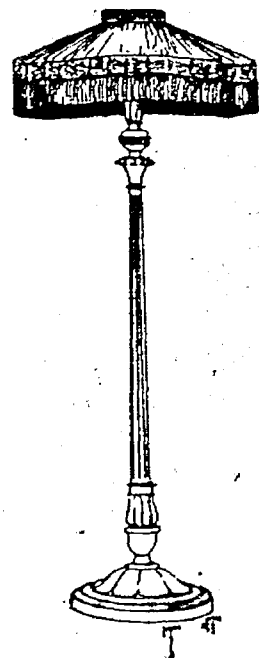

An order was issued by District Attorney Ezra W. Decato that every citizen in the office should comply with the recommendation of the health authorities and wear masks.

with his being taken prisoner is the humane treatment he receives. He has taken account of the way the American soldier fights, and from that is prepared for the savage treatment when he falls in his antagonists' hands. Instead he is fed up with real food, is not harried and is even jolled by his captors. He has not been used to such treatment. His environment has never been of a kind to prepare him for any other but the savage inhumanities to the vanquished that seem to be a legitimate Hun heritage.

SINGLE TAX SCHEME AGAIN.

State Controller Chambers has correctly emphasized the tragically grave danger to the State of California should the voters at next month's election approve the scheme of the single tax propagandists. This project will be on the ballot as a constitutional amendment and numbered 19. Its object is to have all revenues, State, county and municipal, raised by taxation of the value of land, regardless of the improvements that may have been made thereon.

That this taxation scheme, if approved, would become effective January 1st, before the legislature convenes, and leave the State, counties and cities without any revenue system, would be only one of the foolish consequences. It is conceivable that the unfortunate situation produced might be overcome, in time, if lack of any revenue system was the only matter of consideration.

But, as Mr. Chambers points out, that would be only the beginning. We may paraphrase from the Controller's statement with entire confidence. The figures he gives are official and correct.

The grand total of the assessment rolls of the fifty-eight counties of the State and of the railroads, as assessed by the State Board of Equalization for 1918, is $3,806,865,179. This includes real estate, improvements, personal property, money and solvent credits, and all operative and non-operative property.

Of this huge total, real estate—the land, the value of which under the proposed amendment would be the only property taxable—is assessed at $1,872,582,539. This is to say, in other words, that $1,872,582,539 worth of property which is now taxed in one way or another would escape taxation absolutely, save such portions of operative property as consists of real estate. Operative property is the property of public utility corporations which are now taxed upon their gross earnings only. Improvements, personal property, money and solvent credits would be exempt. This heavy additional burden would fall upon land.

Under the scheme of the single taxers the earnings of railroads, gas, electric, telegraph, telephone, car and express companies could not be taxed as at present. Nor could insurance concerns, banks or the franchises of the common corporations. The State revenues from these sources, Mr. Chambers points out, for 1918 will be $17,693,832. What these corporations will escape in the nature of a just share of government expenses will fall upon land. Another $5,000,000 annually would be lost in fees, licenses and inheritance taxes and this burden also transferred of necessity to land. Some of the advocates of the single tax amendment have denied that these things would result, but they falsify the situation. The terms of the proposed amendment leave no room for argument.

There is another phase of the single tax agitation at this time which deserves consideration. It has nothing to do with the merits of single tax and the raising of government revenues exclusively from a tax on land, if there be any merits to the proposition, but it is pertinent to the present effort in California. The single tax movement is managed and largely financed by outsiders—faddists who for many years have been obsessed with the idea of putting this scheme of Henry George into practice. Their principal financial assistance for a long time came from the estate of Joseph Fels, a Philadelphia soap manufacturer. They have picked on California as the most likely State for the infliction of their project. They call it the "Great Adventure."

The present is no time to succumb to the Great Adventure of the single taxers. It is no time to overthrow the revenue system of California and drive at the very heart of business equilibrium. All efforts are needed to win the war. Socialistic experiments calculated to sap and to destroy our strength may wait without prejudice.

Of course it will be the kindly thing—more kindly than any act that is recorded of him—if the allies, when they get around to it, shall determine by a scientific commission whether the Kaiser is a madman, or an atavistic specimen of his ancient race. But in either case he should be put away in a safe place. If he is wrong in the head, restraint is necessary that he shall not do anybody personal injury; if he isn't, the remainder of his life will be all too short to expiate, in any kind of a hostile, the enormities that he must be held responsible for.

A very explicit warning has been issued from high authority to the allied peoples not to expect the foe's sudden collapse. This may be taken to mean that the idea should not obtain that this war is likely to end as Napoleon's last effort did at Waterloo, or the Franco-Prussian war did at Sedan. It is likely to be in some degree a matter of attrition—unless the German people take the matter in hand, depose the Kaiser and give in. This would get them greater consideration than any other plan, but their obsession for the Kaiser being considered, it cannot be counted that they will follow such a plan.

NOTES and COMMENT

Public assemblages on the tops of buildings, in courts, parks and other open-air places, are much in vogue. No doubt many a wily germ has been outwitted by this flank movement.

A hungry person who took umbrage because a dish of beans was set before him was ill-informed of the commercial importance of such nourishment. He should read the market reports. He was as unreasonable as a boarder would now be who turned up his nose at prunes.

The estimate is that 25,000,000 persons subscribed to the fourth Liberty loan. Any reasonable approximation of this number affords a fine idea of the unanimity of sentiment to the necessity of curtailing this war through to a righteous conclusion. Twenty-five millions is about a quarter of the population.

It is foreshadowed that Germany will answer the President and shape all its utterances on the subject of peace, so as to keep up the argument. It will likely be informed that this country is no hand to argue such matters and thus be left to worm its way along as best it can.

The withdrawal of German submarines to conform to one of President Wilson's points is belated. So much irritation has been caused by the ruthless acts of these craft since the peace question was taken up that this eleventh-hour action is not likely to have that appeal that it would have had if it had been more spontaneous.

Reports are to the effect that there is quite a free discussion on the part of the newspapers of Germany on the necessity, or at least the desirability, of the Kaiser abdicating. But he is likely to call attention to the fact that being ordained and enthroned from on high, how can he?

Oakland and other Alameda county cities present no alibis in connection with the fourth Liberty loan. Every city, town and community went over the top.

If there are any humors in the fighting one of them would appear to be the going into an engagement in a fog and striking by compass. No wonder the Hun is scared of these uncouth monsters when they are manned with such intrepid fighters.

Considering the untoward start in the American airplane outfitting they have given a proud account of themselves. The record of 149 of them engaging in a bombing expedition behind the German lines and all returning intact is indubitable evidence of high efficiency as well as daring.

The Hindenberg line is now far in the rear of the allies and the Hindenburg line is in the news. But a very short time ago the Hindenburg line was so far behind the German line that it was practically unknown. Now it emerges, to very shortly give place, without doubt, to another demarcation.

While the main enemy is being chased toward the Rhine the secondary enemy in Russia is steadily being pushed back. The Bolshevik enterprise was bound to languish as soon as the power that inspired it fell in difficulties of its own.

The most casual consideration of the Austrian situation leads to the conclusion that the empire is in a bad fix. It is impossible if it keeps on, and it can't quit. President Wilson's reply to the emperor is that he must settle it with his rebellious components.

It is now explained that jazz music originated in the jungle. There is a considerable opinion that somebody has been culpable in assisting it to escape.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The milk of human kindness has not all turned to clabber, at least not the milk of the State Press. There is no finer grape than the milk of the State Press. That is what Mr. Macomber thinks. That is good. A. K. Macomber thinks, any way. Yesterday there went from Tres Pinos to the base hospital at Camp Fremont one ton of the finest muscats ever sent out of town. They went by express, prepaid. The boys have to thank Mr. Macomber for this treat, for they like his grapes, and his money paid the express charges. It is great to be able to do so fine a thing as this, but it is far greater to have the heart to do it.—Hollister Free Lance.

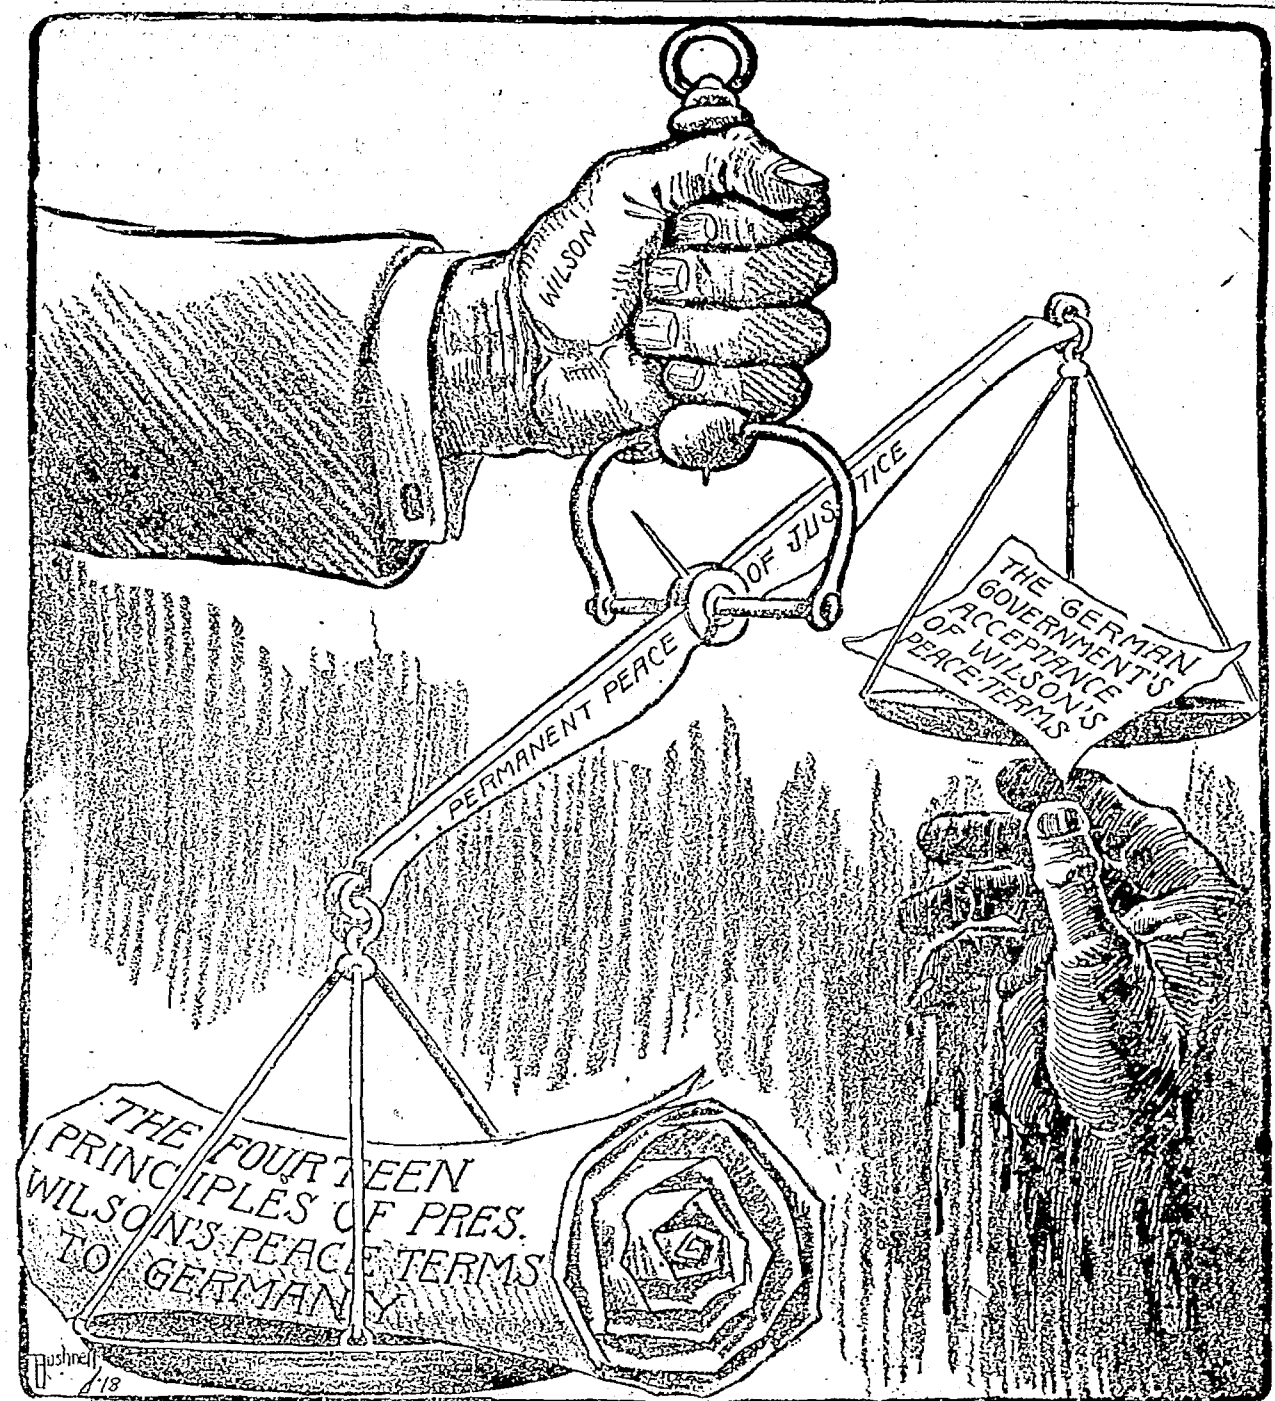

It is reported that something is causing death among the ducks on Tulare lake. Confusion seems to be somewhat similar to that of a few years ago, but whether it will reach such proportions is not known. That water in the lake is at an extremely low stage, and it is thought that may have something to do with it. In the meantime some hunters are of the opinion that ducks from that region will not make very good eating.—Hanford Sentinel.

Mrs. Grace Taylor Zellner has announced herself as a candidate for the office of county superintendent of schools. Under the new county superintendent office will be filled this year for the first time by the clerks of the several boards of school trustees of the county, including clerks of the high schools of the county.—Red Bluff News.

THE WOUNDED AT NEULLY

Carol Corey, in a communication to the National Geographic Society at Washington, gives remarkable pictures of the spirit of the wounded soldiers in American Military Hospital No. 1, at Neully, a suburb of Paris. A part of the communication, which chronicles a visit to the two wards maintained in this hospital by the members of the society, is given, issued as a bulletin of the war-geography series which the society has been issuing to the American press from its Washington headquarters for four years.

"Get any chocolate?" begs one wounded soldier who is able to sit up in bed. He doesn't look more than 17, but insists that he'll be 19 next Tuesday. He's got what he calls three "scratches" and throws back the covers to exhibit a leg bound up like a mummy. I can't help thinking that I'd hate to have "scratches" like his. "But, gosh, it was worth it," asserts he. "If you'll stay with me a minute I'll tell you about it."

"I was a motor-cycle despatch bearer, so they let me carry a forty-five. I was pumping up a flat tire when I heard my captain talking to a man in French uniform. Now, you see, I know a lot of German. All of sudden this bird goes tangled up in his French and begins to fill in with a few Kaiser words.

"Ha, ha," says I to myself: "So that's the little idea. I went straight up to him and I says, 'You're a spy, that's what you are.' Just like that. And he never denied it, but started to beat it."

"The captain stood in the middle of the road, with his mouth wide open, as I started to run after the Dutchy. He could run some, let me tell you. When we got to the first turn there was a big military car painted just like a French one. What do you know about that? A man inside throws open the door, and then I get busy. Bang! Bang! says I, and he went down like a lump of dough."

"The fellow in the car jumped out, hauled him in, and the chauffeur started on high. The live one stood up on the back seat, and out of three shots he made three hits. Whoopie! THIS is the life!"

HOW THE WAR "GETS" SOME. "Funny how this war 'gets' you," soliloquizes a soldier young in years, but old in experience. "Why, when I was at home, I couldn't watch my father kill a chicken. Now? Huh! Once I was racing along with some of my pals, when we saw a mass of squareheads hiding out in a ditch. 'All right,' says I, 'take THAT for the Lusitania, and THAT for the Tuscania, and THAT and THAT and THAT for them Belgium babies!' And we threw every grenade we had with us."

"The man from the north of Ireland, who hasn't been an American citizen very long, sighs and says, 'Sure, I like to lie here and think of the sea.' And one who tells me he was born in Damascus and can speak seven languages compares his childhood to 'bloomin' row's.' The red-faced fat boy yawns, 'Oh, fer a dip at old Coney,' and a fourth asks the nurse if it's true that only seven died last night.

back that helmet I don't care what becomes of me."

"You ought to wear your own neckerchief, like I do," admonishes another. He boastfully shows us what's left of a button—really only the rim. His tunic was open when Mr. Bullett said, 'Howdy.' 'Pretty good work,' says he. 'But not good enough.'"

"From the pocket of what he calls his 'kimono' a proud officer pulls out a piece of hard tack. In its center is a big chunk of shrapnel, and my attention is called to the fact that said hard tack is still intact. And then they expect a tooth to crack it, he snorts.

"DOC, I'M YOUR MAN." "The two enormous, open-windowed tents crowded to capacity, and dotted all about the wide immaculate terrace are men in rolling chairs. Only one is in a bed, and the nurse stops before him because she wants me to meet the boy known to all the hospital as the finest soldier in her army."

"Tell her about 'yourself,' she orders. "Why, there's nothing to tell," smiles Arthur, "except that I was wounded about a month and a half ago. They kept me in a French hospital until day before yesterday. They told me there was nothing 'doin' as far as I was concerned. I said, 'You take me to some one that can take my talk and then we'll see.' So they brought me here and the doctor looks me over and says, the reason why they didn't cut was because the chunk of iron was too close to my heart, and so I couldn't stand to take either. 'However,' says he, 'if you're game enough to let me do it, I'll knock you drops.' So I says, 'Doc, I'm your man.'"

"And he never wiggled a toe," chimes in the nurse. "But," says Arthur, "I didn't care for 'it much when I heard him saw.'"

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Rickets—the Bone Disease of Childhood—Which May Be Cured by Care.

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

If you feed a young child on food which is too hard to be digested easily or which does not measure up in nutritive value, you are apt to bring about a kind of disease called rickets. This disease, known in the scientific world as "rachitis," is of a general nature and affects the bones of the entire mechanism.

The bones, when this ailment is present, stop in their hardening process and become soft and distorted. At first the child appears to have become fat and fat and to suffer more frequently than before, with fewer intestinal movements. There is present a profuse perspiration especially in the regions of the head and neck. In addition to this, the child is backward in teaching.

The "bone disease," if not checked, develops slowly, but marked symptoms soon manifest themselves. The head, in time, becomes more prominent in some places, especially in the frontal area and about the sides. At the time the little victim's head becomes irregular in shape and instead of having a well-developed head it is angular in places and the child is described as a "square head."

CHEST SOMETIMES CHANGES. In addition to being irregular the bones of the head become soft. This is especially true of the bones at the back of the head, under normal conditions, are the hardest bones in the entire anatomy. The skull bones, moreover, are not only softer, but also thinner than they should be.

The bones of the chest suffer in the same way as do the bones of the skull. They lose their shape after a lapse of time because they yield to the distortion of the ribs, the chest, as a result, takes the shape of a pigeon-breast or keel breast, because of its pointed, keel-like projection in the middle, and its general slope at the two sides.

When the long bones of the structure of the ribs have become softened they bend and subject the weight of the mechanism upon various other parts of the anatomy. The bones of the chest, as has been seen, has acquired its new shape of a "pigeon-breast" and the feet are also subjected to an added burden. Since much of the bodily weight is reposed upon the legs and feet, even in normal times, they bear a double portion when the ribs have ceased to take their full share of support. As a result of this exaggerated condition the legs acquire an outward curve, and the bow legs become prominent. To the same condition may also be due the leg and foot distortion known as knock-knee and curved shins.

All these bone distortions and unfortunate bodily deformities may begin at a very early age with the weaning of the baby. If the food of the child is not changed and sufficient care is not taken that it is well supervised, the outcome may be an unfortunate, deformed child. After the baby has been weaned it is necessary that his food be approved and supervised by the attending physician in order that the parent may be sure there is enough—neither too much nor too little—fat in it. The food must contain an amount of starchy material as well as fat, but this in a much smaller degree, because it is harder to digest starch. The food given to adults should by all means be kept away from babies, even if the ambitious mother wants the child "to get used to it."

Besides the food problem, it is imperative that the child live in strictly hygienic surroundings. He must have plenty of fresh air and sunshine, for this is not only part of the cure, but also a part of the cure of this and other infantile diseases.

Recently, during the operations of the British Egyptian expeditionary force in Palestine, a town to the south of Beersheba was captured and it was discovered a splendid example of mosaic pavement.

The excavation of it was placed in charge of a chaplain, and while the work was proceeding some human bones were discovered.

Elated at the find, the padre immediately wired to great headquarters, saying: "Have found the bones of saint." Shortly after the reply came back: "Unable to trace Saint in casualty list. Obtain particulars of regimental number and regiment from his identity disc."—Detroit Free Press.

Colonel Charles Rees Lloyd is reported in today's casualty list among those who have been wounded in action, with the degree of the injury still undetermined. Colonel Lloyd is a distinguished officer who has won his commission through twenty years' active service in the army. He is attached to the Tenth field artillery. When the American forces pushed the Germans back from the Marne in the big fall drive, the Tenth field artillery took a gallant part. Colonel Lloyd was wounded in July. His wife is at present residing in New Jersey. His brother, R. Lloyd, with his family, reside at 2417 Channing way, Berkeley. They have received no late word regarding Colonel Lloyd's condition. Antonio Ratto of Oakland is reported in the list of those severely wounded in action. His nearest of kin is Gidaro Ratto, 1501 Third street.

The war department announces the names of the following Californians in the casualty list of today:

After Many Remedies
--Internal Baths

Mr. Joseph Rosenbaum writes Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York as follows:

"For many years I was a sufferer from rheumatism, neuralgia and constipation, and after trying many remedies I purchased your 'J. B. L. Cascade.' Have been using it ten or twelve years and find it most beneficial. All the above ailments have disappeared and I now enjoy excellent health."

You can help Nature in Nature's most effective way, by internal bathing with the "J. B. L. Cascade," and in an easy, non-habit forming manner keep the intestines as sweet and clean as Nature demands for the perfect health. Over half a million keen, bright, healthy Americans testify to its results.

It is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, M. D., of New York, a specialist on internal bathing, and is now being shown and explained by Dr. Tyrrell. "Why Man of Today" Only 50 per cent Efficient," which is most interesting, and will tell you facts about yourself that you have never before realized.—Advertisement.

Spooners Take Novelists' Cue, Wife Objects

Dane Coolidge, well-known Berkeley author, may write of all the "spooning" he wishes in his novels, but Mrs. Mary Roberts Coolidge, prominent civic worker and member of the faculty of Mills College, objects to seeing her husband's love scenes enacted under the windows of her home.

In a complaint made to the Berkeley police this morning Mrs. Coolidge asks Chief Vollmer to instruct his men to stop the visits of "spooners" to cypress trees which border her home at the head of Dwight way.

The Coolidge home, situated in the Berkeley hills, and commanding a wide panorama of the bay and surrounding country, has become a too frequent mecca for spooning couples, according to its distinguished owner.

"I see them, on all sides," she complains to the police in asking that the "nuisance" be abated.

EXPERT HERE TO LOOK INTO LIBERTY YARD

Rear Admiral Harry H. Rousseau, a member of the Helm commission on navy yard sites that recommended establishing a naval base on the estuary, arrived last night from Washington, D. C., on an inspection mission for the United States Emergency Fleet Corporation. Included in his itinerary is an inspection of the Liberty shipyard, which was established in the Eastbay section upon the recommendation of the Helm commission.

A few days ago work on this plant was discontinued on instructions from Washington, and it is understood that its resumption will be largely based upon the findings of Admiral Rousseau. The admiral explains that the action which closed down the work emanated from the United States Shipping Board headquarters at Washington. He stated that he has no personal knowledge of the reasons for closing the plant, and that he has no authority to take any action in relation to the project so far as completed.

He will, however, hold a number of conferences on the subject with Captain A. F. Pillsbury, district manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Engineer Jubb and other officials of the Abertaw Construction Company, contractors at the yard, and with other persons interested in the plan to establish in the Eastbay district one of the government's largest shipbuilding plants. The result of his investigation will be forwarded to Washington headquarters of the shipping board.

CARPENTER IS BANKRUPT.
The voluntary bankruptcy petition of L. E. Richards, carpenter of Alameda, was filed in the Federal District Court yesterday, listing liabilities of $1324. Assets of $274, of which $100 are claimed to be exempt.

Assert Many Causes for the High Prices

Farm and orchard produce of all kinds is arriving in the local wholesale commission houses in unusually large quantities, with prices of the majority of products much higher than in former years. This strong upward tendency is due, commission men say, to increased cost of production. Advance in cost of seed, increased wages, higher freight and cartage rates, added expense of handling, and various other incidents, necessarily force prices up, dealers declare. Poultry is unusually high this season and it would not surprise dealers, they say, if turkeys and chickens reach a higher price this year than ever.

First Muscat Crop Nearly Harvested

Harvesting of the first crop of muscat grapes is about over, according to local commission men. Muscat, which usually has the latest crop of that variety of grape, is furnishing the major portion of the shipments. Picking of the second crop of muscats is expected to begin within ten days. The next harvest will be much lighter than that of former years on account of damage caused by early rains, according to reports received from growers.

Before. Ranch eggs are quoted at $12 cents a dozen wholesale, with indications of a further advance in the near future.

Influenza Puts Lid on Albany Saloons

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Influenza put the "lid" on Albany last night, and for the first time since its incorporation some ten years ago the town is bone dry today. An order to close three saloons in Albany, which have been the bone of contention in the town for some time, was given last night by the board of trustees following a conference on the influenza situation. A motion was also taken because of an influx of thirsty residents from Contra Costa county, where all saloons were closed last week several disturbances occurring which made the authorities take action.

With Berkeley also dry, Oakland is now the nearest Mecca for all Contra Costa and northern Alameda county residents whose thirst demands something stronger than water.

Laborer Beaten as He Resists Arrest

James O'Neill, a laborer, resisted being taken to the police station when placed under arrest for drunkenness. According to the police report Patrolman Hayes, who made the arrest, "hounced his baton" on the head of his prisoner. O'Neill was then removed to the emergency hospital. He was later placed in the city prison.

Now the nearest Mecca for all Contra Costa and northern Alameda county residents whose thirst demands something stronger than water.

Electrical Workers Framing New Scale

A new wage scale for electrical workers and female operators affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is being formulated today in executive session in San Francisco. Delegates from all cities in this state, Oregon and Washington, representing 12,400 members, are present.

International Vice-President L. C. Granger is presiding and said the terms of the new wage demand would not be made public until they had been first submitted to Plant Superintendent E. B. Fullerton and Superintendent of Traffic J. C. Downs, who will undoubtedly refer them to Postmaster General Burleson for his opinion.

Her Invitation to Spouse Just 'Friendly'

Letters from Hester Kemp, in which she said she could not be happy with her husband, much less make him happy, are cited as grounds for divorce by the husband, Arthur H. Kemp, teacher of agriculture. The complaint filed in the local courts, says Mrs. Kemp went to Fresno and established her home there. From Fresno she wrote to her husband asking him to pay her a few days' visit before entering a training camp, but cautioned him not to misinterpret the invitation, which she said was merely friendly. In another letter she accepted an invitation for a trip to Los Angeles providing her husband would pay all the expenses and leave her entirely alone.

An Important Message Regarding the Sugar Shortage

THERE'S an old saying
"It's an ill wind that blows
no good!"

Everyone has been inconvenienced more or less by the sugar shortage. Many people still rely entirely on sugar for sweetening and, of course, are inconvenienced.

But thousands of housewives have not only found "a way out" during the present shortage, but have learned a thing or two that will stick forever—sugar or no sugar.

Here's a fact: Sugar only sweetens—it gives absolutely no flavor.

Brer Rabbit real New Orleans Molasses not only sweetens like sugar, but it gives a rich, delicious flavor to all cooking and baking.

Yet Brer Rabbit is not a "substitute" for sugar. It is practically sugar itself. Like sugar it is made from sugar cane and contains a large amount of real sugar.

Is it not quite natural that resourceful housewives have turned to Brer Rabbit Molasses during the sugar shortage?

For the Children

Youngsters naturally crave molasses. Years ago sliced bread and molasses were part of the daily diet of children.

Gold Label Brer Rabbit Molasses gives to the child the elements the young growing body needs. Brer Rabbit is absolutely pure, wholesome, palatable and strengthening. Doctors will tell you what molasses and bread means to children.

Besides, it saves sugar, cuts the butter bill.

There are Two Kinds of Brer Rabbit Molasses

Both are Absolutely Pure New Orleans Molasses

GOLD LABEL Brer Rabbit is mild in flavor, light in color and is delicious for table use—as a spread for pancakes, waffles, biscuits, etc. It is especially fine for cooking, baking and candy making.

GREEN LABEL Brer Rabbit Molasses is darker in color, slightly stronger in flavor and is splendid for cooking, baking and candy making. It costs less than the Gold Label.
